1972 Index

Title	Page	Page and month
General management
Acquiring a business	45	March
An automated information system for local government	257	November
An automated line-item budgeting system for local government	270	November
Automated financial consolidation	48	March
Automating internal audits—for banks	69	April
Changing aspects of the savings and loan business	2	January
Computer-assisted planning model for school districts	73	April
Computers and urban planning	178	August
Concepts and techniques in communicating employee benefits	208	September
A conceptual approach to computer controls	166	July
Control systems criteria—for contractors	211	September
Cost accounting and decision-making	42	March
Creativity in management	215	September
Developing work standards for hospitals—for more effective cost control	153	July
The disintegration of an information system	122	June
Evaluating the effectiveness of social services	104	May
Excellence in EDP	62	April
Executive mobility	219	September
Financial planning models	195	August
A guide to effective marketing for savings and loan associations	4	January
Identifying with the firm—a problem in employee communications	23	February
Improved information for university administration	216	September
Information for profit	241	October
An information system for local government	129	June
Integrated logistics planning and control	26	February
Key steps in profit planning	7	January

1972 Index

Title	Page	Page and month
General management
Acquiring a business	45	March
An automated information system for local government	257	November
An automated line-item budgeting system for local government	270	November
Automated financial consolidation	48	March
Automating internal audits—for banks	69	April
Changing aspects of the savings and loan business	2	January
Computer-assisted planning model for school districts	73	April
Computers and urban planning	178	August
Concepts and techniques in communicating employee benefits	208	September
A conceptual approach to computer controls	166	July
Control systems criteria—for contractors	211	September
Cost accounting and decision-making	42	March
Creativity in management	215	September
Developing work standards for hospitals—for more effective cost control	153	July
The disintegration of an information system	122	June
Evaluating the effectiveness of social services	104	May
Excellence in EDP	62	April
Executive mobility	219	September
Financial planning models	195	August
A guide to effective marketing for savings and loan associations	4	January
Identifying with the firm—a problem in employee communications	23	February
Improved information for university administration	216	September
Information for profit	241	October
An information system for local government	129	June
Integrated logistics planning and control	26	February
Key steps in profit planning	7	January

Management: its changing patterns	281	December
Managing administrative services	22	February
Managing health care services	150	July
Managing information	118	June
Managing the city—for change	226	October
A methodology for measuring passenger terminal impedances	229	October
MODAPTS—applying a new work measurement system	192	August
The people-goals concept in employee benefits	206	September
A PPBS overview—for the school district	13	January
Program evaluation	254	November
Programming the budget for school districts	96	May
Safeguarding computer records	245	October
Simulation models in regional planning	181	August
Some reflections on organizational structure	278	December
Some reflections on the meaning of budgeting—for nonprofit institutions	86	May
Some thoughts on computer usage in the '70s	65	April
Some thoughts on profit planning	54	March
Structuring the PPBS process	266	November
System and software controls for on-line systems	141	June
Toward effective management training	216	September
Transportation planning: A reexamination	160	July
Trusteeship today	90	May
Viewing the transportation scene—problems and opportunities	33	February
Wage controls	290	December
Work simplification and common sense	287	December

Accounting and reporting standards and controls

An automated information system for local government	257	November
Automated financial consolidation	48	March
An automated line-item budgeting system for local government	270	November
Automating internal audits—for banks	69	April
Computer-assisted planning model for school districts	73	April
Cost accounting and decision-making	42	March
The disintegration of an information system	122	June
Financial planning models	195	August
Improved information for university administration	216	September
Information for profit	241	October
An information system for local government	129	June
A PPBS overview—for the school district	13	January
Program evaluation	254	November
Programming the budget for school districts	96	May

Safeguarding computer records	245	October
Some reflections on the meaning of budgeting—for nonprofit institutions	86	May
Structuring the PPBS process	266	November

Data processing

An automated information system for local government	257	November
Automated financial consolidation	48	March
An automated line-item budgeting system for local government	270	November
Automating internal audits—for banks	69	April
Computers and urban planning	178	August
A conceptual approach to computer controls	166	July
The disintegration of an information system	122	June
Excellence in EDP	62	April
Financial planning models	195	August
Improved information for university administration	216	September
Information for profit	241	October
An information system for local government	129	June
Integrated logistics planning and control	26	February
Managing information	118	June
Program evaluation	254	November
Programming the budget for school districts	96	May
Safeguarding computer records	245	October
Some thoughts on computer usage in the '70s	65	April
Structuring the PPBS process	266	November
System and software controls for on-line systems	141	June

Marketing

Changing aspects of the savings and loan business	2	January
A guide to effective marketing for savings and loan associations	4	January

Organization and personnel

Concepts and techniques in communicating employee benefits	208	September
Developing work standards for hospitals—for more effective cost control	153	July

The disintegration of an information system	122	June
Executive mobility	219	September
Identifying with the firm—a problem in employee communications	23	February
Management: its changing patterns	281	December
Managing administrative services	22	February
MODAPTS—applying a new work measurement system	192	August
The people-goals concept in employee benefits	206	September
Some reflections on organizational structure	278	December
Toward effective management training	216	September
Work simplification and common sense	287	December

Planning

Acquiring a business	45	March
An automated line-item budgeting system for local government	270	November
Changing aspects of the savings and loan business	2	January
Computers and urban planning	178	August
Computer-assisted planning model for school districts	73	April
Evaluating the effectiveness of social services	104	May
Financial planning models	195	August
Improved information for university administration	216	September
Key steps in profit planning	7	January
Managing health care services	150	July
A PPBS overview—for the school district	13	January
Program evaluation	254	November
Programming the budget for school districts	96	May
Simulation models in regional planning	181	August
Some reflections on the meaning of budgeting—for nonprofit institutions	86	May
Some thoughts on profit planning	54	March
Structuring the PPBS process	266	November
Transportation planning: A reexamination	160	July
Trusteeship today	90	May

Systems and controls

An automated information system for local government	257	November
An automated line-item budgeting system for local government	270	November
Computer-assisted planning model for school districts	73	April
A conceptual approach to computer controls	166	July
Control systems criteria—for contractors	211	September

Cost accounting and decision-making	42	March
Developing work standards for hospitals—for more effective cost control	153	July
The disintegraton of an information system	122	June
Evaluating the effectiveness of social services	104	May
Financial planning models	195	August
Information for profit	241	October
An information system for local government	129	June
Integrated logistics planning and control	26	February
A methodology for measuring passenger terminal impedances	229	October
MODAPTS—applying a new work measurement system	192	August
A PPBS overview—for the school district	13	January
Program evaluation	254	November
Programming the budget for school districts	96	May
Safeguarding computer records	245	October
Simulation models in regional planning	181	August
Some reflections on the meaning of budgeting—for nonprofit institutions	86	May
Structuring the PPBS process	266	November
System and software controls for on-line systems	141	June
Work simplification and common sense	287	December

Systems for business data processing

Basic/Four	37	February
Burroughs 5000	18	January
Burroughs 6700	112	May
Honeywell 1015	80	April
Honeywell 2040	274	November
Honeywell 6030	146	June
Philips 350	200	August
Ultimacc disc computer	174	July
Univac 1106	58	March
Univac 9700	220	September
Wang 700	249	October

Special issues

Electronic data processing	April
Nonprofit organizations	May
Information systems	June
Management in government	November